CSHD Influenza Report
November 17th, 2010

Updates

- CDC Interim Guidance on Influenza Antiviral Use
- Final 2009-10 Vaccination Coverage Estimates
- CDC Weekly Flu View Report
- CDC Spanish Seasonal Flu Site
- Q&A 2010-2011 Vaccine Selection
- International Influenza Update

Surveillance

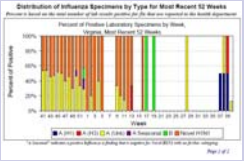
Week 44 (Weekending date 11/6/2010):

Virginia's Influenza-Like Illness (ILI) Activity Level

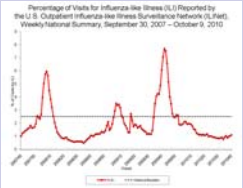
[Sporadic]

Those 0-4 years of age had the highest % of ILI visits per age group

VA ILI Levels



U.S. ILI Levels

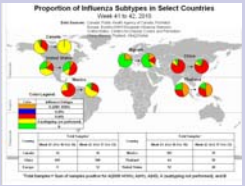


National Surveillance Summary

6.8% of specimens were positive for Influenza
Of those: 39.5% were B
60.5% were A
Of those typed:
8.0% were A 2009 H1N1
55.4% were A H3

CDC Influenza Activity Map

International Flu Update



Antiviral resistance

No Oseltamivir (Tamiflu©) or Zanamivir (Relenza©) resistance has been reported in Influenza A (H3), Influenza A (2009 H1N1), or Influenza B specimens for the 2010-11 season.

Resources

General Public	Healthcare Providers	Schools
How Flu Spreads	2010-2011 ACIP Practices	Guidance for School Administrators
Preventing Flu	CDC Vaccination Resources	How to Disinfect Schools
Q&A Seasonal Influenza	Info for Health Professionals	Q&A for Schools
What to do if you get sick	Vaccination Algorithm for children 6 months – 8 years	Information for Parents