Subject: Vertical Separation Distance

John,

Sorry for not getting back to you sooner with this information.

I have attached a document that is a WA DOH review of literature and state regulations on vertical separation. It contains a table on page 9-10 that summarizes some states requirements for vertical separation. While this is an older document (1990) and a further review of more recent research and updated state regulations is necessary I thought it might be useful.

I have also attached excerpts from some other state regulations that I know recognize a reduction in the separation distance when using advanced treatment. Some states regulations are not very clear about the allowance and you might need to look at the complete regulation in detail to really understand it. Let me know if you need a copy of any states regulations as I have them all and would be easy for me to forward any particular one.

I thought this would be a start. Let me know if you would like me to dig into this deeper and get some additional information. I hope this helps.

Thanks!
