Assessment and Treatment of Trauma

An Overview of the
Jones and Bartlett ATT
Course

What is ATT ?

- Assessment and Treatment of Trauma (ATT) is a new international continuing education course from the AAOS that represents the state-of-the-art in prehospital trauma assessment and management. Based on the most current medical information and best practices, this concise and highly interactive continuing education course covers the critical knowledge and skills necessary to rapidly evaluate, stabilize, and transport the trauma patient.

Why ATT ?

- ATT offers students an engaging course that expands their knowledge of trauma concepts and promotes critical thinking through case-based learning, hands-on skills stations, live-action video, and small group scenarios.

Continuing Education

- ATT is accredited by the Continuing Education Coordinating Board for Emergency Medical Services (CECBEMS) and offers a renewal recommendation of every 4 years.
- ATT is accepted by the National Registry of EMT's.

Course Layout

- The Assessment and Treatment of Trauma (ATT) Course is presented in a convenient 1-day format! It is a concise, highly interactive, and expeditious learning system.
- The 2-hour Precourse Online Module allows participants to review essential information related to each type of injury from the comfort of their homes or offices.

- The On-Site portion of the course is not a rehash of the online presentations. When the participants come together to learn, they actively participate in scenario-based, small-group discussions and witness live-action videos. This keeps providers involved and pushes them to think critically about how to approach traumatically injured patients.
