A Selection of Useful Information Resources for Grant Funding Opportunities

Grantmakers in Health (GIH)

http://www.gih.org/index.htm

GIH Resource Center monitors the activities of health grantmakers and synthesizes lessons learned from their work. It collects basic information on foundations and corporate giving programs funding in health and looks across the field to identify trends and emerging issues. Its staff has backgrounds and expertise in philanthropy and health to help grant seekers get the information they need. It also has an electronic database useful to grant seekers.

Foundation Center

http://fdncenter.org/

The Foundation Center's site provides information on foundations both free and by subscription. Useful free services include a search of more than 2,000 annotated links to grantmaker Web sites. The links are categorized by grantmaker type, and all annotations are searchable (except those of Community Foundations, which are listed alphabetically by state).

The Foundation Center also publishes a comprehensive series of free online grant-relevant electronic newsletters under the name of Philanthropy News Digest. To subscribe to this service, go to http://fdncenter.org/newsletters/.

The Grantsmanship Center (TGCI)

http://tgci.com

This site posts daily grant announcements from the federal register. It also has links to the main federal and state government sites. The site also contains an archive of articles on grantsmanship.

A special feature of the TGCI site is its listing of funded grant proposals with abstracts of each proposal. These top-ranked grant proposals are available and can be purchased in multiple-proposal CD sets and on custom-made CDs. Each proposal comes with the original proposal guidelines (when available) or the original announcement from the Federal Register. The proposals can be accessed at:
http://www.tgcigrantproposals.com/health.htm

The TGCI site, http://www.tgci.com/resources/foundations/community/com_va.html, lists community foundations in Virginia.

GuideStar

http://www.guidestar.org/

GuideStar has a searchable database of more than 850,000 IRS-recognized nonprofit organizations including private foundations. IRS Forms 990, where available, are provided for private foundations.

GrantSmart

http://www.grantsmart.org/

GrantSmart is an informational and interactive resource center for and about the nonprofit community. This site has a database of private foundation activities useful to both grantseekers and individual donors. IRS Form 990, where available, are provided for private foundations.

Internet Nonprofit Center

http://www.nonprofit.org/

Because all foundations are registered with the IRS as nonprofit organizations, this database of all nonprofits can assist in locating small foundations that can not be found in other databases. At present (May 14, 2002), the databases on this site are being updated and are unavailable. It is important to note that this site is not the same as the federal nonprofit.gov site.

The Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance

http://www.cfda.gov/

This site provides detailed information on all federal grant programs, including eligibility requirements, application procedures, and deadlines. It has full search capabilities.

Federal Register Online via GPO Access

http://www.access.gpo.gov/su_docs/aces/aces140.html

This site provides current and archived Federal Registers, which can be viewed by date and searched by keyword. This is the database used by most grant-searching institutions such as the Foundation Center or the Grantsmanship Center to compile their lists of new grant opportunities.

NonProfit Gateway

http://www.nonprofit.gov/

This site is described as "A network of links to Federal government information and services." It contains a wide range key information that is of assistance to nonprofits in obtaining grants.

Community Foundation Locator

http://www.communityfoundationlocator.com/search/index.cfm

The Community Foundation Locator is sponsored by the Council on Foundations to facilitate finding community charitable funds.

Rural Assistance Center (RAC)

http://www.raconline.org

RAC has the most comprehensive listing of federal, state and private foundation funding resources and capital funding resources for rural health programs. RAC operates in partnership with HRSA's Federal Office of Rural Health Policy (ORHP). Grants from the ORHP can be found at http://ruralhealth.hrsa.gov/.

Office of Minority Health Resource Center

http://www.omhrc.gov/omhrc/funding.htm

The Office of Minority Health has a searchable grants database that can greatly assist in locating funding opportunities relating to minority health.

Telemedicine Information Exchange

http://tie.telemed.org/funding/

The Telemedicine Information Exchange (TIE) maintains a searchable up-to-date database of funding sources for telemedicine activities, including funding opportunities in both the government and private sectors. The TIE collects and maintains a variety of details about each funding opportunity, such as contact information, related websites, deadlines, and other notes.

The Center for Faith-Based & Community Initiatives

http://www.hhs.gov/fbci/

The Department of Health & Human Services' Center for Faith Based & Community Initiatives lists grant opportunities from all federal health-related agencies which are available for faith-based (FBO) and community-based (CBO) organizations. Each grant program has been rated according to the type of opportunity it presents. Also see the National Center for Faith Based Initiatives web site, www.ncfbi.org, which is currently under development.

Virginia Faith-Based & Community Initiatives

http://www.dss.state.va.us/community/faith.html

The Virginia Faith-Based & Community Initiative within the Virginia Department of Social Services is designed to assist community organizations by responding to their requests for technical assistance and conducting workshops on applying for state and federal funding, grants development, successful collaboration and establishing volunteer programs.
