ACE Division Launches GovDelivery Email Service

This is a blanket e-mail message to all certified Education Coordinators and ALS Coordinators.

Dear Educator,

Welcome to GovDelivery! The ACE Division is pleased to announce that we are launching GovDelivery as an e-mail delivery service for our bulk e-mail messages.

In an effort to help keep our educators and providers informed and to prevent random blocking of e-mail messages from ISP's, the ACE Division is launching the GovDelivery email message service to facilitate dissemination information to the public.

With so many different smartphone software versions, smartphone/tablet manufactures, ISP's and e-mail services, it has become more difficult for the ACE Division to be able to guarantee that end users are receiving our bulk messages. We anticipate this new service will rectify these issues, streamline communication, and more importantly, enhance communication with our providers, educators, agency administrators and other stakeholders.

Best,

Chad
